THE PORTER FAMILY,
1596-1897

Denver, Colorado, Dec. 26, 1938.

Tippicanoe Historical Society,
Lafayette, Ind. 1596-1897

Compiled by,
Stephen A. Wallace,
1938

Replying to your letter forwarded to you by John Porter family and his descendants, 1596 to 1897, together with a list of pictures, in my possession of various members of the Porter-Brown families. The pictures, came to me in John Dutton Brown, 1835, was educated and later taught school in Tippicanoe County, and a listed in the war of the rebellion from this time the family, had figured largely in the development of the new world, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the Gulf of Mexico to Hudson Bay. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois rate among many of its best citizens members of the and allied families. This family history gives a key to many of the pioneer families of America.

I am working on the Brown, and Allied families of Dutton, Cleaver and Richardson, all of which are old American families and all of which played an important part in the development of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. As soon as I have completed these histories, I will forward them to you.

Yours truly,

Stephen A. Wallace.

Jonathan Porter, of Wrenham, (grandson Jonathan, son John, son Samuel,) born 1771. died 1862, married Martha, daughter Dr. William Fairfield, and had three distinguished sons; 1st John, born 1799, a physician of South Danvers, now Feabody. After his fathers death he returned to the old Wrenham homestead, and engaged in business in Boston, which he continued until his death in 1866. For many years he was one of the most usefull and respected citizens of his native town, filling all the important offices in its gift, and representing it in the General Court for several successive years. 2nd, William Fairfield Porter, born 1806, an enterprising man. He had a passion for owning land, probably inherited from his earliest ancestors. In early life he settled in Newton, where he laid out streets, beautified them with trees and erected handsome houses. In 1835, he went west and bought several hundred acres of land near Madison, Wisconsin, for similar treatment. Here he remained until 1866, when he returned to the vicinity of Boston, spending the winters in Florida. There he purchased some orange plantations, and with other gentlemen, St. Georges Island, near Jacksonville, where they erected a hotel, laid out drives etc, intending to make it in the future a popular resort, he died in Jacksonville in 1878.

Henry Porter, born 1809. died 1881, He was the inventor of Porters patented burning fluid, so universally used before the introduction of kerosene oil. He established a business in New York and Boston, and acquired a handsome fortune.

Asa Porter, born 1724, (son Moses, son Benjamin, son John 2nd) graduated from Harvard College in 1762 and settled in Newburyport as a merchant. He was a gentleman of the old school, and during the revolutionary war, he was a devout Loyalist. Before 1780 he moved to Haverhill N.H. and became a large landholder. Sabin, in his history of the Loyalist, says; "He suffered in person and property through his adherence to the royal cause, and was compensated by grants of land in Canada. He was on intimate terms with Governor Wentworth and other gentlemen of rank and was himself a person of highly respectable character," Mr. Porter married Mehitable Crocker, of Newburyport, and died in 1818. William T. Porter was a grandson and the wife of ~~William~~ Hon. Rufus Choate was a grand-daughter of Asa Porter.

William T. Porter, born 1809, died 1868, was educated at Dartmouth College. He then entered newspaper life, and in 1831 he issued at New York the Spirit of the Times, and the first sporting Journal published in the United States, which he continued for 25 years, and in 1856, he became associated with George Wilkes and established Porters Spirit of the Times.

The Hon. Rufus Choate, was born in Essex, Mass. March 1, 1799 and died at Halifax July 13, 1859 Having fallen into ill health he had taken passage in a Cunard steamer for Europe, but left her at Halifax, where, after a few days, he suddenly died.

ZACCHEUS PORTER: born 1700, (Great gr and-son, Benjamin, son Israel, son John 1st,) a sound successful lawyer of Belfast, Me. married Rachel, daughter of Samuel and Susan (Curtis) Cunningham, of Peterboro. N.H. Their daughter Abigail C. born 1813, married 1836, Hon. Albert Pillsbury, who was for many years U.S. Consul at Halifax, where he died Jun 13, 1872. Their daughter Emily Pillsbury, married at Halifax, October 8th, 1865, John George Bourinot, son of the Hon. John Bourinot, then French Consul, at Sidney, and M.P.P., for Cape Breton Co. and afterward senator. The son is clerk of the House of Commons of Canada, and occupies high rank in the literary life of the Dominion.

AARON PORTER: born 1752, (son Moses, son Benjamin, son John 2nd.) died at Portland Me. 1837. He was an eminent physician, first at Buxford, Mass, and then at Portland. In 1777 he married Paulina King, daughter of Richard of Scarborough, Me. and sister of Rufus King, first United States senator from New York, Minister to Great Britain, etc. Their son Richard King Porter, born 1784, was a ship-master, and for many years commanded large ships built at Bath Maine, he died in 1859. He married in 1815, Mary Clapp, of Mansfield, Mass. and one of their daughters, Arizene Southgate, born 1821, married 1842, Hon. William Aspinwall a prominent and wealthy citizen of Brookline Mass., Another daughter, Elizabeth Clapp Porter, born 1823, married 1842 Alexander W. Longfellow, of the U.S. Coast survey, and a brother of the poet Longfellow.

GENERAL ISRAEL PUTNAM, was the tenth of the eleven children of Joseph and Elizabeth (Porter, daughter of Israel, son John 1st,) Putnam, and was born in Danvers in 1718, at the age of twenty he married Hannah, daughter Joseph Pope, of Salem. In 1738, he and his brother-in-law, John Pope, bought 514 acres of land in what is now Brookline, Windham Co. Connecticut, and in 1741 he became owner of the whole tract, which he converted into one of the finest farms in New England. The story of his entering a dark narrow cave, shooting and dragging forth and old she wolf, which had long ravished the flocks of the neighborhood, used to be familiar to every school boy.

He was actively engaged in the French wars 1757-63, was promoted major in 1757, and lieut. colonel in 1759. In 1762 he went with the expedition against Havana. He was the senior officer and commanded the Connecticut troops at the battle of Bunker Hill, and he performed conspicuous service through the Revolutionary war. He died in 1780.

In the year 1769, when the dispute between England and the colonies had begun and the importation of foreign goods was stopped, it became customary for people to manufacture their own clothing, and in many places the young ladies had spinning matches at their ministers for the benefit of their families.

On August 15, 1768, at 2 P.M. 97 young ladies met at the house of their pastor, the Rev. John Porter, ( of North Bridgewater, now Brockton,) and gave to the wife for the use of the family, 3322 knots of linen, tow, cotton, and woollen yarn, which they had spun for that purpose. At four o'clock the ladies walked in procession to the meeting house, where a discourse was delivered by the pastor, from Acts IX, 36, "This Woman was full of good works," the closing prayer having been made, the following verse, composed by the pastor, were sung;

Ye rubies bright, ye orient pearls,
How coveted by men!
And yet the virtuous woman's price
Excels the precious gem.

How kind and generous her heart,
How diligent her hand!
How frugal in economy
To save her sinking land.

Foreign productions she rejects,
With nobleness of mind;
For home commodities, to which
She's prudently inclined.

She works, she lends, she gives away,
The labours of her hand;
The priest, the poor, the people all
Do find in her their friend.

She clothes herself and family,
And all the sons of need;
~~Where~~ were all thus virtuous, soon we'd find
Our land from Slavery freed.

The Rev. Nehemiah PORTER ( son Nehemiah, son John 2nd, son Samuel,, son John 1st,) was born at the Hamlet, March 22, 1720/ and graduated at Harvard College in 1746. On the 20, January 1749, he married Rebecca, daughter of the Rev. John Chipman, minister of Beverly, and on the 3rd of January 1750, he was ordained minister of the Chebacco parish, Ipswich. Mrs. Porter died 38, October 1763 in her 36 year, leaving nine children, and in June 1766 Mr. Porter took his dismissal from the Chebacco church. Soon afterwards he visited Yarmouth, and in 1767 he was installed minister of the Congregational church of Yarmouth Town, and there he remained until 1771, when he returned to Massachusetts.

Mr. Porter arrived in Yarmouth just in season to participate in the government grant of the township, made in April 1767, his quota being 1827 acres in different parts of the township, besides 368 acres to his two sons, minors, Nehemiah and Samuel Porter.

In 1868, Samuel Agreen, Esq. ex-Mayor of Boston, and librarian of the Massachusetts Historical Society, kindly sent me a pamphlet on "The Early Congregational Churches of Nova Scotia," prepared by himself and printed by the society .

It has the following letter from the Rev. Nehemiah Porter to the Rev. Dr. Andrew Eliot, of Boston;

Yarmouth in Nova Scotia, Nov. 16, 1770.

Revd. Sir, -

Sometime last September I received Forty dollars from Benj. Gerrish Esqre at Halifax, part of the donation of some charitable Gentlemen at Boston for the relief of the indigent dissenting Ministers of this Province, which came very seasonably to me and I have reason to think of others also, about which time I was invited by a letter from Malachy Salter Esqre. to go to Halifax and preach a month. Dr. Moore being gone. I Accordingly have been, and Mr. Salter informed me that I was Peculiarly indebted to yourself and Dr. Cooper for the donation, and I now return hearty thanks for the same, wishing to yourself and others a better reward than this world affords; you will please to thank these charitable Gentlemen on my behalf--At Halifax I met with the Revd. Mr. Seecombe of Chester and the Revd. Mr. Gannett of Cumberland, Gentlemen who I had never been acquainted with before, and was much pleased to find such serious and good ministers in this Province, for I have not been before with any one, except Mr. Wood, who has consented, last summer I am informed, that his people should be no longer obliged to give him any support, nevertheless has offered to preach this winter for nothing as they call it.

This town is very much detached from the rest of the Province, - to the northward and eastward there is no regular settled town nigher than Annapolis, and to the southward Barrington, or Cape Sable, is the highest which is twelve leagues hence and Halifax if fifty, - There is a comfortable Unity in Opinion amongst us in this part of the Town, called Cape Breton; about two thirds of the inhabitants here have laid themselves under some obligation to give us fifty pounds per annum, but I have not received the one half of that, for the time that I have preached here to last summer was three years, the people not being well able. A Congregational Church was gathered here, last September three years ago, in which I have to this day officiated as their minister. The other part of the town, settled on the River called Tabogue, are as happy than we in regard to Unity. The Revs. Messrs Reed and Conant, of Bridgewater, if I mistake not, were here last spring to assist them in Unity, and so far succeeded as to persuade them to meet in one Assembly, till the last Sabbath when they parted again, and one part have Mr. Scott, a layman among them, and the other part Mr. Moulton, a Baptist minister from Brisfield.

From Your humble servant and fellow labourer in the Gospel,
Nehm. Porter.
To the Revd. Dr. Andrew Eliot
in Boston New England.

Ellis' History of Ashfield, Mass., says:
Dec. 22, 1774, Rev. Nehemiah Porter was installed pastor of the Congregational Church and continued in this relation until his death February 22, 1820 age 45 years 11 months.

During Mr. Porter's active labors, until the settlement of his first colleague, it being about 35 and onehalf years, 354 persons were admitted to the church, 240 by profession, 94 by letter. During Mr. Porter's ministry the church enjoyed several seasons of religious revival. In 1780 a year distinguished in the annals of New England for the extraordinary outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the Churches, there were numbers gathered into the churches of Christ at this place, but more particularly in 1797-98 during which season upward of 80 were added to the Congregational Church. Mr. Porter was a man of active, energetic and commanding power of mind. He was favored with a vigorous constitution, and an uncommon strength and fullness of voice. His religious sentiments were those of the Reformation, and his style of preaching, though somewhat redundant, - a characteristic of the age - was, nevertheless, energetic and impressive. During the war of the Revolution, his support in a great measure failing, in consequence of severe pressure of the times, he obtained permission to join the army on the Hudson River in the capacity of Chaplain. He was there during the conflict with Burgoyne and the capture of the British Army. That event, so propitious to the American Arms, he was wont to say, was not the result of human might and power, but of the arm of Jehovah of Hosts. During the heat of the battle, which decided the fate of Burgoyne's army, Mr. Porter, being with a reserve of men at a little distance from the scene of action, obtained permission from the officer to retire, with as many as were disposed, to a secluded spot for the purpose of prayer; and while in full hearing of the tremendous onset they were calling upon the God of Armies to interfere with his mighty arm in behalf of the cause of liberty and religion, the noise of the battle died away and the victory of our arms was decisive. Perhaps there never was a contest since miraculous power ceased here the interposition of Heaven was more conspicuous than in that which resulted in the independence of the United States.

Mr. Porter lived far beyond the common lot of man. He ~~did~~ did not wholly cease from his labors of the ministry until he was over 80 years of age, and indeed until the last month of his life he was able to conduct the devotions of his family, and to converse to the religious edification of his friends. With long life he was satisfied. He came to the grave in full age. He was gathered to his fathers like a shock of corn fully ripe in its season.

"Mr Porter entered the pulpit of his church and took part in the services when in the looth year of his life, He was taken from his house, and seated in a chair placed on a stone boat and was conveyed to the church."

Barnabas Howe, in his "Historical Sketches of the times and men of Ashfield during the Revolutionary War," published in 1883, says;

"Not only soldiers went to join the Patriot Army, but their ministers went as chaplain. The Rev. Nehemiah Porter left Ashfield soon after Aug. 16, 1778 and did not return until after the surrender of Burgoyne

His services as chaplain in General Gates' army is the great historical event of Ashfield. He was at the front at Saratoga, Fort Stanwix and Bennington.

Mr. Porter in our country's darkest hour, when men's hearts were failing them for fear, and when five Congregational ministers, in what is now Franklin Co. were Tories, went on to serve in Gates' Army, and so far as we can learn, no other clergymen of any other denomination offered to serve in that capacity in our army.
